Pacific College Sponsors Old Line Oratorical Contest

Portland U. Linfield Win

The annual State Old Line Oratorical contest was held at Pacific college Thursday afternoon and evening. The winner of first place in the women's division was Frances Anderson representing Linfield college. Her topic was, "I Discover America." She took us with her in her talk, to Germany and while she was there she compared the concentration camps, rations, compulsory military training and life in Germany with life in America. Her theme all through her speech was, "I went to Germany but I discovered America."

The winner of first place in the men's division in the evening was Harry Bowlen from the University of Portland. His topic was, "Behold! The Dreamer Cometh." He told of those dreamers who were considered foolish but who really opened the way for us—Christopher Columbus, Thomas Jefferson, and Alexander Graham Bell. He said that there must be dreamers for progress as the dreamer sees the vision, and in spite of opposition, it comes true.

Winners of the second prizes were Julia Thomlinson and Bill Rockwood from Pacific university. Miss Thomlinson in "A Decent

Y. M.-Y. W. Plan Annual Banquet

New officers of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will be installed at a banquet given in their honor Friday evening, March 15, in the dining hall of the girls' dormitory.

The menu for the banquet will be roast veal, mashed potatoes, gravy, creamed corn, cranberry sherbet, fruit salad, hot rolls, butter, coffee and apple pie.

Students will be chosen to fulfill specific duties and the members of both organizations are invited with a 35c attendance charge.

BIRD SLIDES SHOWN AT CHAPEL FRIDAY

On Friday morning, March 2, at the regular chapel period, D. A. Caucher presented to the students and faculty of Pacific college some beautiful and interesting slides showing birds that may be found in Yamhill county.

Bob Seiloff Receives Award

Word was received this week of the selection of Robert Seiloff, senior student of Pacific college, for the Haverford scholarship given by Haverford men's college in Pennsylvania.

The scholarships are given to a few outstanding men in the United States each year. The awards are based on scholarship, character, ability and general aptitude. It covers all expenses for the entire year.

This is the second time in three years that a student from Pacific college has been chosen for the award. Two years ago Lewis Hoskins received the award and he is now teaching in Friends University.

PLAY PROMISES COMEDY SUSPENSE, ROMANCE

Has anyone seen a collapsible chair? The freshman play cast are in dire need of a very unusual property — one collapsible chair, which will be responsible for much of the merriment in "Dover Road," their three-act comedy, to be presented March 21 at 8:00 in Wood-Mar hall.

"Dover Road" has comedy, suspense, and romance, in large measure, much to the joy of the cast, who plan on conveying as much fun to the audience as they have had practicing.

Committees Chosen, May Day

Plans for Pacific college's annual May day celebration were given added impetus today when the committees for the celebration were announced.

Tentative dates for the affair have been set with the main events of the program, that of the crowning of the queen, the winding of the May pole and the parade which will form at the college to wind through the streets of Newberg, on the first of May.

The queen's court will be made up of Janet Phipps, Ladean Martin, Alfreda Martin, LeRoy Pierson, Ruth Hodson, Willis Barney, Esther May Weesner and Chuck Smith.

The committees for the various events, which will be sponsored by the May day festival, will be: Dinners, Anita Schlicting, Marjorie Wilson; costumes, Bonnie Jeanne Follette; decorations, Jim Spirup; floats and parades, LeRoy Pierson; queen's bower and bleachers, Melvin Ashwill, Mark Chapman; dramatics committee, Hazel Mary Houser; morning and afternoon program, Stanley Keller; publicity chairman, Galen Miller and the entire Pep club.

Mr. Hirtzel Selected for Teaching Position for Next Semester

Pacific college is adding violin instruction to its curriculum for the coming year, and has secured as teacher Robert Hirtzel, the brilliant young violinist who appeared in concert at the college auditorium Feb. 27 with Mordaunt A. Goodnough.

Mr. Hirtzel has been a student of the violin for the last 14 years. He has had the best of training, for some years under the noted violin teacher and former concert artist, Engberg Davenport, of Seattle, one of the best known teachboats (he was in Hong Kong when the war broke out) and has been doing concert work for a considerable time with Mordaunt A. Goodnough, who recommends him highly and unreservedly.

In addition to his violin teaching, Mr. Hirtzel will direct the orchestra if one should be organized at the college the coming year.

With Earl Wagner as professor of music and teacher of piano, Mrs. Florence Tate Mardock as teacher of voice and director of the chorus, and Mr. Hirtzel as

Where Is The Entrance To St. Patrick's Purgatory?

The supposed entrance to St. Patrick's Purgatory was located on the islet in Lough Derg, County Donegal, Ireland. According to legend this was an earthly purgatory set up by St. Patrick that the punishment of sinners might be seen . . . to give proof to the Irish of the truth of his teachings. This legend was first made known to Europe through a work written by Henry of Saltrey, an English Cistercian Monk. At an early date a church and artificial cavern were constructed on the islet and it became a famous place of pilgrimage during the Middle Ages.

L'Ami Pictures

The 1940 L'Ami is almost to press! Here's the catch. Bad weather has stalled the taking of pictures around the campus and of the students. We know there are many of you who have cameras and who have a hobby of taking pictures, so the L'Ami staff has offered to enter the five best pictures submitted to the annual in a national contest. Not only that but there is a new photography club begun by the group of annual photographers which may interest any of you amateur shutter fiends who wish to join our local expression of the candid camera rage. We need good pictures for the annual and we know you have them locked up in your camera. We just want to get them out. There are so many new and numerous types of shots around our campus that we won't try to tell you what pictures we want most. Your versatality and imagination will find the pictures for you. Just let them loose and see.

For a Better Crescent

To have a good paper which can be an accurate reflection of Pacific, we need an organized staff that will publish the paper continually.

Each year the editor should be a staff member who has worked up and fulfilled specific duties. He should be nominated by the staff and voted upon by the student body. He should hold regular staff meetings and split up the organization to care for different types of stories and try to rotate the reporters.

Everyone interested could belong to the staff and each one would have an equal chance to find a position that he desired.

This is my idea of a decent staff organization ,one that could put out an efficient newspaper and one that will stop our present slipshod methods. To achieve this purpose we need an intelligent group of students who are honestly interested in the school and the paper. We have already lost one column from the Crescent in the effort to reduce prices and the only way we can win it back is by

Y. M. Elections Will Be 13th

The Y. M. elections will be held next Wednesday, the 13th. The nominations were as follows: President: George Thomas and Galen Miller; vice president, David Michener and Clyde Hadlock; secretary, James Webb and Harold Hewitt; treasurer, Kermit Daywalt and Ed Daniel; adviser, Mr. Sanders and Mr. Skene.

The speaker for the last week's meeting was Rev. Carl S. Howland. He is holding meetings at the present time at the Free Methodist church.

JOSEPHINE HALDY IS NEW Y. W. PREXY

Josephine Haldy was elected president at the Y. W. C. A. meeting held in the chapel Wednesday, March 6.

Other officers elected were: Janet Phipps, vice president; Wanda Needles, secretary, and Alice Gulley, treasurer. The committee chairmen are to be appointed by the new cabinet.

Installation of new officers of both the Y. W. and Y. M. will be held at the annual installation banquet.

Boys' Dormitory News

Since Ladean Martin left us we have been without a house president, so we got together and elected one. The result of the election disclosed that Dick Binford was our new house president. Ladean had taken care of our finances, but after Dick was elected president we decided to have a treasurer. Galen Miller was elected to hold that post.

Our stomachs here are settled down after quite a siege of very unsettled breadbaskets. A few of us didn't get sick. They were Galen, Arnold and Kenny Booth, Hiel Heald and Dick Binford. There must be something wrong with their stomachs.

The morning of Thursday, March 7, Mr. Diment gave us a fire drill at 6:30. No one seemed to enjoy it but Mr. Diment. Howard McCurley slept through it while the rest of us sleepy-eyed got up early and were on time for breakfast.

A tea celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Trefian Literary society was held in the dorm parlors Saturday afternoon, March 2.

Miss Sutton also gave a brief talk on the activities of the present Trefian society. Irene Swanson presented the different numbers on the program.

Miss Sutton and Miss Kendall presided at the tea table, where the silver-plated tea set recently purchased by Trefian was used for the first time.

One former member of Trefian, Mrs. Eugene Coffin, came from Fresno, Calif. She, as Miss Jean Gardner, was Pacific college May Queen in 1936.

There were several other graduates and former teachers of Pacific college present.

Christian Burial" stated that the burials we have today are not decent, nor are they Christian. She suggested that we follow Sweden's plan in using only part of the money designated for flowers and use the rest of the money for charity. Dead people cannot appreciate the flowers and would probably like to have their friends remember them as living, not as dead in a cold casket.

Mr. Rockwood's topic was, "Prevent Misinformation, Please!" To prevent misinformation we must tell youth the truth. If we do not, they will go other places for it which will be worse for them. To rid ourselves of cheap literature for youth, we must arouse public sentiment against them and build up better lores and folk-ways.

Third place winners were Alnora Pierce from Oregon State college and Tom Terjeson from Willamette university. Miss Pierce's topic was, "Discovery of America, 1940," and Mr. Terjeson's was "Driftwood."

The rest of the orations were as follows: Helen Robertson, Pacific college, "A Stirring in the Land of Cotton;" Louise Tucker, Willamette university, "Beautifying the Willamette;" Eileen Clancy, Marylhurst college, "Spoilers of the Vine;" Stanley Keller, Pacific college, "One More Step;" Reuben Lachenmeier, Linfield college, "Stop! Listen! Think!" and Graham Stephenson, Oregon State college, "Is It True We Don't Care?"

honorable mention to the winner of third place, in each contest. These prizes were provided by the Intercollegiate Forensic Association of Oregon.

The judges in both contests were directors of speech at their respective institutions. Each judge ranked and graded all speakers except the one representing his own school.

The judges were: Herbert E. Rahe, Willamette university; R. D. Mahaffey, Linfield college; H. H. Brockhous, Pacific university; C. W. Wells, Oregon State college; Charles A. Lee, University of Portland; Louise McKinney, Marylhurst college, and Mrs. Marian Sanders, Pacific college.

Dinner Will Honor Miss Sutton

Miss Mary C. Sutton will be feted at a dinner Friday evening, March 22 at the Friends church in honor of her 25 years of service to Pacific college.

Guests invited will be present and past members of the board, faculty, student body, and the Friends church.

Miss Sutton has served the college by teaching biology, botany, health and German during her career here.

She received her bachelor of arts degree at the University of Washington in 1911 and taught English and languages at Pacific college from 1911 to 1913 when she became acting professor of German. In 1914 she left the college to teach languages at Yelm high school, Washington. The next three summers she spent at the University of Washington, becoming a graduate student of the summer terms there. She continued this practice at the University of Oregon the summer term of 1922 and at the University of California summer term of 1924. In 1927 Miss Sutton received her Master of Arts degree at the University of Oregon.

Census Taker Chapel Speaker

Mrs. Panic gave a very interesting account of the various phases of census work. She spoke of the problems and sometimes humorous situations which arise in her work. She also told of the importance of taking the census.

Chemawa Wins P. C. Tourney

Large Crowd Sees Grand Finale

With 22 teams in the opening round, the Gold P club's annual grade school basketball tournament began Feb. 29. The tournament lasted through Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with the finals being played Saturday night.

Willamina and Beaverton played the consolation finals at 8 o'clock. Beaverton was slightly larger and their superior coaching and teamwork enabled them to win easily by a score of 26-18.

The Chemawa Indians played Tualatin for the championship at 9 o'clock Saturday night. It was a very close game just as a championship game should be. It was the second hard game for the Indian boys that day; so by winning they proved themselves to be real champions. Earlier in the day they had beaten the tough St. Marys team who have been champions for the last three years.

The first half ended with Tualatin leading the Indians by a score of 12-11. Chemawa seemed to be pretty tired and unable to check Tualatin's two tall boys who, incidentally, were the tallest boys in the tournament.

However, the second half was different. The Indians seemed to find themselves and passed rings around Tualatin to win the game and championship by a score of 28-21.

Friday saw some real basketball games. Three games in the "B" bracket went into overtime and two of those went two overtime periods before determining the winner.

Saturday noon Chemawa beat St. Marys by the measure of two foul shots. That in itself isn't unusual, but the fact that they were taken after the game was over makes this game established history. Just a split second before the final whistle blew St. Marys lad fouled—not afraid of the Chemawa team. The final whistle sounded as the referee whistled for the foul. The score was tied at 16-16. Not Afraid lived up to his name and, with malice aforethought, deliberately potted his two free throws to win the game 16-18.

The cup was given to Chemawa for being the "A" winner and one to Tualatin, the "B" winner. The consolation pennant went to Beaverton.

Chemawa was given the Grand Trophy which they can keep if they win it three times in succession.

Two teams of all-stars were chosen and two boys were given honorable mention. Osura of Dallas was named the most valuable player to his team. Because of the unusual sportsmanship displayed by all the fellows, no one individual was chosen the most outstanding sportsman.

The All-Stars, first team: Taschiro, Hillsview; Osura, Dallas; Eidsmae, Yamhill; Lonigasu, Brooks; Bohlen, Tualatin. Second team: Smith, McMinnville; Tissidimit, Chemawa; Fore, Beaverton; Floth, Hubbard; Getschell, St. Marys. Honorable mention: D. Mode, Willamina, and Koenia, Gervais. The referees for the tournament were Joe Kycek, Stanley Keller, Chuck Smith, Bill Hays by Taschiro of Hillsview, who made 23 points against Sherwood.

The trophies were donated by Arney Houser and Lyle Barkman, J. C. Penney Co., Miller's, and the Newberg Rotary club. A public address system was donated by the Spaulding Lumber Co. of Newberg.

FROM THE SIDELINES

Our basketball season was climaxed by the grade school tournment sponsored by the Gold P club. Everything ran smoothly and the grade school teams all had a good time.

Of all the outstanding things in the tournament as a whole, good sportsmanship took first place. From start to finish the boys were good sports, win or lose. A lack of intentional fouls was quite noticeable. It was good to see those kids play basketball that wasn't tainted with tripping, elbow-gouging and all the other tricks of the game. This tournament was quite important to our new lettermen because they had to work in the tournament as part of their initiation into the Gold P club.

From all indications, since we are talking about new lettermen, we are going to have several new sluggers on the baseball team this year. The majority of them are freshmen which is going to make a good lot of experienced players for future seasons. Many of our returning lettermen will be unable to play for various reasons.

If you happened to see a streak of blue swish around the track Wednesday morning you are probably wondering what it was. Well, I'll let in in on a little confidential secret. It was Kermit Daywalt taking a time trial for the Hill Relays. Bill Rarick is a new addition to the team and has good potentialities as a distance man.

Quakerettes Lose to Pacific U.

Pacific university co-eds defeated the Quaker girls in a fast basketball game at Forest Grove Friday, March 8. This was the initial game on the P. C. schedule.

Play during the first half was very decidedly to the university's advantage with a score of 16-4 at the end of the half. During the second half the points gained were evenly distributed between the two teams. The game ended with a final score of 26-16.

Players participating in the game were Mary Esther Pemberton, Ruth Cuffel, Mary Edith Thomas and Elenita Murdock, forwards, and Janet Phipps, Mary Lou Hoskins, Marguerite Barney and Wanda Needles, guards.

1940 Annual Well Under Way

The 1940 L'Ami plans are well under way, according to the editor, Helen Robertson. Plans now include delivery of the books on the 15th of May.

Group pictures for the book will be taken very shortly. Snap-

Mr. Hirtzel comes highly recommended and will be welcomed by all music lovers of the college.

Linfield to Present Our Town

"Our Town," the Pulitzer prize-winning drama which was presented on Broadway last season, is to be given at the high school gym Tuesday evening, Mar. 19, by a cast of players from Linfield college and under sponsorship of the high school Masque club.

The play, which uses no scenery or properties, tells a simple story of the life of two small town families. The Linfield players have presented the drama in several other towns.

A meeting of the International Relations club was held Thursday after chapel to elect the officers of the club.

Those elected were: President, Eugene Rogers; vice president, David Michener; secretary, Alice Gulley.

It was suggested that the meeting might be changed from Thursday to Wednesday but no definite action was taken.
